

procurement

our approach

Our procurement is undertaken through clear project scoping and definition. Along with an agreed timetable, this leads to a tangible conclusion and supplier recommendation.

Each project that we undertake is based on a tailored framework for an individual client. This ensures that the end result meets the requirement, without the need for large investment.

our experience

Our procurement experience is applicable to both the public and private sector and ranges from basic procurement to large scale ICT projects. As a member of the Chartered Institute of Purchasing and Supply (CiPS), we conform to high quality standards. As a result of this, we pride ourselves on our ability to build and maintain long term client relationships.
